With our world in turmoil and the Church divided, Christians more than ever need to slow down, pray and amend their lives. The problem is our fast-paced lifestyles make this very hard to accomplish. Lent, a forty-day period of preparation for Easter, is the key penitential season of the Church year. Lent provides Christians with an opportunity to build richer spiritual lives through self-examination, fasting and repentance. Do you find Lent joyless, unwelcome or difficult to sustain? Has Lent long ago ceased being transformative and become something you do out of duty or guilt? Alternatively, are you inexperienced with Lent and unsure how to walk through this season? This devotional is here to help. Drawing on the Sarum Rite, the original daily lectionary in use in the English Church at the time of the Reformation, An Invitation to a Holy Lent provides some easy-to-follow structure for your Lenten journey. With short daily Scripture readings, probing reflection questions and practical suggestions for application, this devotional will make the difficult task of spiritual growth more accessible. If you can find fifteen minutes a day to meet with Christ during this Lenten season, see if He doesn't enliven your faith and deepen your Christian walk.
