This book will help you to consider what's may be in your tap water and whether you want your family to find alternative sources for drinking and cooking water. The information is based on articles from around the nation, covering facts and figures available to the general public, but, seldom accessed.

Water sustains us, rejuvenates us, and cleanses us. It is essential. But unlike a decade ago, when clean water could be drunk off a river, lake, or even your tap; today, we live in a world of purified water. Some think it is a luxury, and the government tries its hardest to keep up with that lie. But we as citizens, consumers, human beings are becoming wise to the ways of lies and half-truths. We have learned not to take any statement, on its face value.

But there are still some individuals, private and public, who are either blissfully unaware, or hopelessly deluded. You've heard state and federal level politician, say that tap water is safe. Heck, they'll even show you videos and pictures of them, drinking straight from the tap.

What they won't tell you, is this is probably one of the few instances they will drink from the tap. Since, the toxins are accumulated in nature; a once in a lifetime act of stupidity and machismo won't do them any harm. But for those who drink from the tap, daily, it can be like a slow death sentence.

Why a death sentence? You'll find out soon.

The shocking truths about water quality are revealed, and we hope you will take the time and look further into the quality of your water and find acceptable options for your family.

The Federal government does not have the resources to provide your family with the quality water you want.
